

Diamond Class News

January 26th 2012

Date Change: Science Fair & Pancakes

Due to a scheduling conflict we have had to change the day of the Science Fair and pancake breakfast to Saturday, February 25th. The Pancake Breakfast begins at 8:30am and ends at 10am. The Science Fair begins at 9:00 am and ends at 12pm. The Science Fair is optional for kindergarteners but we always encourage you to participate if you have the time to help your child through the process. At this level a science project can be a rock collection or a taste test. Anything that answers a question your Diamond class kindergartener has about the world around him or her.

Coats, hats & gloves! Oh my!

A couple of friendly reminders since we are back at school about what every Diamond class kindergartener needs everyday to be successful! With the weather every child needs a coat, but our classroom is cozy and the coats need to stay outside on the child's hook (we are replacing the nametags that are missing this week). There isn't room in the cubbies and it can be very hard for the student to have access to the things they need to during the day if they stuffed their jacket in their cubby. In addition, students are not allowed to wear hats or hoods (from hoodies) inside the classroom. If you send them with a hat, please help them to remember to take it off. Gloves and mittens are rarely necessary and umbrellas are only needed for Club M friends. Thanks ☺!

Oh Where Oh Where is my Water Bottle?

The great search for the water bottle continues in the winter months! Please make sure you (or whomever drops off your child everyday) checks that your child has a labeled water bottle everyday! We seem to have a class with similar tastes this year and (not unlike coats) water bottles come up missing. We are running low on cups and sending children out to the drinking fountain can be very distracting to their learning process. Please support us to helping the children to keep hydrated everyday!

DRESS CODE CRACKDOWN!

Please take the time to review our campus dress code:

<http://www.cacmp.org/cmpeg/items%20of%20interest/pdf/2008-09/Dress%20Code.pdf>. It is a link on our campus page of the website under, 'Items of Interest' or by accessing the link above. We will give a small grace period, but ultimately the process of recording of incidents will be taken seriously. The biggest issue in Diamond class seems to be the collared shirts and ornate footwear. Please don't worry about the coats and lunch boxes and focus on making sure your student is wearing the appropriate clothing for class time. Also be aware, that Free Dress Passes will not be given to any students out of the dress code. If you have any concerns or issues please see Ms. Nicole or Ms. Whitney.

Upcoming Snack/Sharing

1/27 Kaelyn
1/30 Kaleb
1/31 Kevin
2/1 Luna
2/2 Olivia

Important Dates

Jan. 27th Minimum Day/Dismissal @ 11:45am
Feb. 3rd 100th day of School (poster boards due)
Feb. 25th Science Fair/Pancake Breakfast
Feb. 14th Heart Cookie Decorating with Buddies
☺ Diamond Class Teachers